Child Safeguarding Policy

February 2017
From the Director’s Desk:

Forty-five years back Child in Need Institute (CINI) started its journey primarily as a Health and Nutrition NGO from two clinics for impoverished children in Kolkata. Today CINI has grown to be a nationally recognised and internationally reputed NGO that has included Education and Protection interventions as well in its portfolio of operations. The organisation today is recognised as one of the champions to community driven approach for sustainable development in the domains of health, nutrition, education and protection for children, adolescents and women in need.

All these years, CINI's strength has remained to be its direct presence in the communities. It is from them that we have learnt and expanded and have moved from a fragmented approach (of only Health and Nutrition) to a holistic view that includes Education and Protection as well. We believe that it is in a safe and secured environment that a child would attain the qualities of life in its highest potential. This realisation has resulted into what we call the CINI Method in building Child Friendly Communities (involving all stakeholders and duty-bearers) that ensure access to the rights and entitlements of every children in the society.

However we advocate the Rights of the child, as an organisation how do we practice the same, internally ? What is our approach to prevent any abuse, neglect, exploitation and violence and how do we respond to the issues within the organisation? How do we exemplify our commitment to our children? What are the pointers to declare ourselves a Child Safe Organisation? Needless to say, it is by adoption of the policies that aim at preventing children from being harmed, protecting children from any form of abuse, neglect and maltreatment, and promoting wellbeing of each and every child by ensuring a safe environment.

At an organisational level this encompasses philosophies, policies, standard operations, guidelines and procedures designed to protect children from both intentional and unintentional harm and steps to promote their welfare. And this policy guideline is a major step towards that. The Child Safeguarding Policy will encompass all units, children and staff of CINI, suppliers and contractors, visitors, interns, donors, guardians and caregivers, and other individuals coming in direct or indirect contact with children through CINI.

I thank all my colleagues who have helped developing this manual, which I believe would guide us to engage appropriately with the children, keeping in mind that however we engage, the best interest of the child must always be protected.

1. INTRODUCTION AND KEY BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Child in Need Institute (CINI) is a registered national level voluntary organization working with deprived communities since 1974. CINI has received twice the National Award for Child Welfare – 1985 and 2004 – for its contributions to child welfare. It is guided by its mission of sustainable development in the domains of health, nutrition, education and protection for children, adolescents and women in need. The organisation now reaches to more than 5 million in both rural and urban regions of West Bengal and Jharkhand in India. CINI's current engagements in Child Protection sector, both in terms of technical assistance and innovative programme implementation are well recognized and contributions are acknowledged.

Child protection has grown into one of CINI's major areas of work. Over the years, CINI has been involved in running a number of services and has also emphasised education and protection as integrated components. CINI is working intensively at the community-level strengthening community-based safety nets mechanism through a Child Friendly Community approach. As we strive to implement child protection programmes and projects, we find that it is imperative for CINI to be a child safe organisation. As such, CINI must ensure that all its employees and people interacting with the organisation are aware of children's rights and ensure safety to the children it works with.

The present child safeguarding policy has been developed to ensure that appropriate prevention, protection, reporting and responding protocols are in place to safeguard the rights of the children. The present document highlights the operational protocol that needs to be followed in staff recruitment, organizational management, behaviour protocol systems as well as the responding measures that can be adopted in case of breach of this protocol.

CINI mandates that each and every individual associated with the organisation should compulsorily abide by this policy and commit to stated values and principles of upholding child rights in the institution.

1.1 CINI’s commitment towards the creation of Child Friendly Communities

The approach adopted by CINI in child protection is towards the creation of child friendly communities where children can claim and fulfil their rights in the critical areas of education, protection, health and nutrition. Communities, local government bodies and service providers are the three key duty-bearers who are encouraged to utilise the potential of participatory governance process for local development in order to fulfil children's rights. CINI acts as a facilitator in the process of building capacities and supporting the key actors to ensure the best interests of children.

It places the child at the centre of his/her development process and that of the community. It recognises that each duty-bearer plays its role to ensure the due entitlements of the child. It does recognise that institutionalisation should be the last resort and the child should be encouraged to stay in his family/community. The right to protection is a crucial entitlement of the child, without which all the other rights to survival, development and participation remain unfulfilled.

1.2 Values and principles

Community ownership: Communities are key partners in the initiative of creating a child-friendly environment where children themselves can assert their rights.

Participatory governance: CINI empowers communities and children in order for them to play an informed and proactive role in the governance process and in decisions made about their lives.

Rights-based approach: CINI ensures protection of children and also supports deprived children in fulfilling their rights and entitlements.
Social inclusion: CINI works towards ensuring inclusion of discriminated and excluded children in participatory development process on an equal ground.

Sustainability: CINI focusses on building capacities of key actors so that they can systematically include children's rights in local institutions.

2. WHAT IS THE CHILD SAFEGUARDING PROTOCOL?

A child safeguarding protocol is defined as adoption of the policies, programmes and philosophies that aim at preventing children from being harmed or abused, protecting children from any form of abuse, neglect and maltreatment, and promoting wellbeing of each and every child by ensuring a safe environment. At an organisational level this encompasses philosophies, policies, standards, guidelines and procedures designed to protect children from both intentional and unintentional harm and steps to promote their welfare.

The rapid progress of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and other factors have triggered newer ways of violence against children. Reports of children being abused by caregivers in shelter homes have intensified. As CINI is working directly and indirectly with children, its organisational mandate is to create a safe environment for children, where all staff is aware of various behaviour protocols and other measures that need to be taken to ensure safe zones for children.

What will CINI do?

Prevention: Through awareness generation and capacity building, CINI ensures that all staff and other concerned individuals are aware of child rights and restrain from doing/performing any act that can violate the rights of children.

Protection: CINI ensures that all staff and other relevant individuals are concerned about the protection of children from any forms of abuse or child rights violation.

Reporting: CINI ensures that all staff and other concerned individuals are fully aware of the steps that must be taken in the case of child rights violation. The organization will ensure a mechanism where children are encouraged to report any case of abuse to the authorities through the “Suggestion boxes.”

Responding: CINI ensures that clear steps and guidelines are issued, appropriate and proper actions are taken in regard to possible abuse and child rights violation.
2.1  Child Safeguarding Protocol: Mission Statement

CINI will work towards the creation of Child Friendly Communities. Through all its endeavours and approaches it will ensure the creation of an environment where children are safe and free from abuse, neglect and exploitation.

It will be ensured that all staff, interns, consultants and others associated with CINI are fully aware of the safety and rights of children and work in solidarity towards preventing, protecting and responding to child rights violations both within the organisation and in the communities where CINI operates.

CINI is a child safe organisation, where children can assert their own rights and views freely.

2.2  Definitions and Scope of the Child Safeguarding Protocol

The Child Safeguarding Policy, hereafter referred to as CSP, will encompass all units, children and staff of CINI, suppliers and contractors, visitors, interns, donors, guardians and caregivers, and other individuals coming in direct or indirect contact with children.
Group 1: Staff: contractual staff, general assignment staff, trainees, community members and volunteers (paid)

Contractual staff: A staff is known to be contractual staff when an agreement is made between Child In Need Institute – CINI and the employee for a specified period. It may be a contract of one year, two years, three years or even less than one year. Generally it is for one year at a time.

General assignment staff: This type of assignment, both short and long-term, relates to specific activities in order to access specific skills. It may be extended from time to time depending on organisational requirements.

Trainee: In case of new appointments of Programme Associates or Programme Officers, any individual selected through an interview process by CINI is usually inducted as trainee initially, for a period of six months. During the traineeship, trainees may be placed in any Unit of CINI. After the Trainee period is over, the overall performance of the trainee is assessed through the existing appraisal system and, if found satisfactory enough, the trainee may be granted a contract with proper designation for a period of one or more years.

Community volunteers (paid): Local community youths involved in preparatory, shikshalaya and coaching centres who receive an honorarium for their services.

Group 2: Donors, Interns, Volunteers and Visitors (unpaid)

Donors: Any individual or agency contributing to the CINI's resources in cash or kind for a specific period of time. Prior to their contribution, there is a planning stage involving both donor and recipient. The recipient is accountable to the donor and they work in partnership.

Interns: As part of an academic curriculum, students may be placed at CINI from different academic institutions for a specific period of time with the objective of practical learning through completion of a specific assignment given by the organisation.

Volunteers (unpaid): A person who performs a service out of his or her own free will without payment.

Visitors: An individual or group who visit the organisation for a short span of time with the purpose of understanding the organisation's work.

Definition of Child

According to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (Article 1) a child is every human being below the age of 18 years.

Also according to the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) of Children Act 2015, Section 2 (12), the overarching legislation of child protection in India defines child as a person who has not completed eighteen years of age.

Defining Child Protection

“Child Protection” is about protecting children from or against any perceived or real danger or risk to their life, personhood and childhood. It is about reducing their vulnerability to any kind of harm and protecting them in harmful situations. It is about ensuring that no child falls out of the social security and safety net and, those who do, receive necessary care, protection and support so as to bring them back into the safety net.

Abuse: Abuse can be categorised as five types—physical abuse, sexual abuse, emotional abuse, neglect and violence.

Physical Abuse: Physical abuse is the imposing of physical injury upon a child. This may include burning, hitting, punching, shaking, kicking, beating or otherwise harming a child. The parent / caregivers may not have intended to hurt the child. The mistreatment may, however, be the result of over-discipline or physical punishment that is inappropriate to the child's age.
Sexual Abuse: Sexual abuse is inappropriate sexual behaviour with a child. It includes fondling a child's genitals, making the child fondle the adult's genitals, intercourse, incest, rape, sodomy, exhibitionism and sexual exploitation. To be considered 'child abuse', these acts have to be committed by a person responsible for the care of a child (for example a baby-sitter, a parent, or a day-care, night care provider), or related to the child. If a stranger commits these acts, it would be considered sexual assault and handled solely by the police and criminal courts. Sexual abuse can take place online and offline.

Emotional Abuse: Emotional abuse is also known as verbal abuse, mental abuse and psychological maltreatment. It includes acts or the failures to act by parents/caregivers that have caused serious behavioural, emotional, or mental trauma. This can include parents/caregivers using extreme and/or small forms of punishment, such as confinement in a closet or dark room or being tied to a chair for long periods of time or threatening or terrorising a child. Less severe acts are also included like belittling or rejecting treatment, intentionally excluding a child from participating in activities etc.

Neglect: It is the failure to provide for the child's basic needs. Neglect can be physical, educational, or emotional. Physical neglect can include not providing adequate food or clothing, inappropriate medical care, supervision, or proper weather protection (heat or cold). It may include abandonment.

Educational neglect includes failure to provide appropriate schooling or special educational needs allowing excessive truancies. Psychological neglect includes the lack of any emotional support and love, never attending to the child, substance abuse like allowing the child to participate in drug and alcohol use.

Violence: The intentional use of physical force or power, threatened or actual, against oneself, another person, or against a group or community, that either results in or has a high likelihood of resulting in injury, death, psychological harm, mal development, or deprivation.¹

- Sexual Harassment: It can be defined as any unwelcome sexual act, request for sexual favour, verbal or physical conduct or gesture of a sexual nature, or any other behaviour that might reasonably be expected or be perceived to cause offence or humiliation.²

- Child Sexual Abuse (CSA): Sexual abuse of children can be defined as contacts or interactions between a child and an older or more knowledgeable child or adult (a stranger, sibling or person in a position of authority, such as a parent or caretaker) when the child is being used as an object of gratification for an older child’s or adult’s sexual needs. These contacts or interactions are carried out against the child using force, trickery, bribes, threats or pressure. Sexual abuse can be physical, verbal or emotional.³

• Sexual Exploitation of Children (SEC): Child sexual exploitation as a type of child abuse which happens when a child is performing, and/or another or others performing on them, sexual activities in exchange for something (e.g. food, accommodation, drugs, alcohol, cigarettes, affection, gifts, money).⁴

• Child, Early and Forced Marriage (CEFM) amounts to sexual exploitation of children when it is used as a culturally accepted practice to achieve sexual gratification in exchange for money or other compensations.

• Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC): Commercial sexual exploitation of children consists of practices that are demeaning, degrading and often life threatening to children. There are three primary and interrelated forms of commercial sexual exploitation of children: prostitution, pornography, and trafficking for sexual purposes. Other forms of sexual exploitation of children include child sex tourism, child marriages and forced marriages.⁵

• Child Prostitution: is an act of engaging or offering the services of a child to a person to perform sexual acts for money or other consideration with that person or any other person.⁶
• Child pornography: is a violation against children. It involves sexual abuse and exploitation of children and is linked to the prostitution of children, child sex tourism and the trafficking of children for sexual purposes.⁷

• Child Sex Tourism: It is the commercial sexual exploitation of children by persons who travel from their own country to another usually less developed country to engage in sexual acts with children.⁸

• Child Abuse Materials (CAM) and Online Sexual Exploitation of Children: Increasing access to the internet has allowed perpetrators to sexually abuse children without moving out of their homes and coming in physical contact with children. In the last three decades production and consumption of child abuse images have grown extensively, the illicit profits, generated through the production and distribution of CAM is massive. The sex abuse of one child through a live web cam is estimated to generate revenues for USD 1000 a night.⁹

• Child Incest: Incest, sexual abuse occurring within the family, although most often perpetrated by a father, stepfather, grandfather, uncle, brother or other male in a position of family trust, may also come from a female relative. As with sexual abuse, incest is accomplished by physical force or by coercion. Incest takes on the added psychological dimension of betrayal by a family member who is supposed to care for and protect the child.¹⁰

- Bullying /Peer Harm: The inappropriate application of pressure (either physical or emotional) by children on their peers to the extent that it causes distress to the recipient of the pressure. This can be in the form of taunts, threats or physical assault, online and offline.

- Corporal Punishment: Corporal punishment is the infliction of pain intended to change a person’s behaviour.

- Voluntourism and Orphanage Tourism: Volunteer services and project visits, which have been traditionally relied upon by non-profit organisations to promote engagement in the field of development and broaden their donor base, are now also commercialised by specialised travel operators as part of package tours or round trips, even during cruises. The term Voluntourism, a combination of short-term volunteering experience with travel associated with holidays or study abroad, it has recently grown in popularity and is emerging as a global market generating estimated profits. The objective of commercial Voluntourism operators, rather than supporting charity work in the field, is profit making, a goal that is achieved by involving as many volunteers as possible. Visitors and volunteers are normally enlisted in short-term visits, ranging between a few hours and several weeks, and are rarely vetted. The most popular projects are those allowing direct interaction with children, especially teaching English and helping out in orphanages or children's shelters. Under rather informal arrangements, volunteers can spend extended periods with children, even alone, or living with host families. Travelling child sex predators may exploit such channels to gain unprecedented access to children. CINI rejects all such form of Voluntourism and Orphanage Tourism.

In CINI's context

Direct contact with children: Being in the physical presence of a child or children in the context of the organisation's work, whether contact is occasional or regular, short or long term.

Indirect contact with children: This includes, but is not restricted to having access to information on children in the context of the organisation's work, such as children's names, locations (addresses of individuals or projects), photographs and case studies. Photographs identifying one specific child and interfering with his or her privacy should be strictly limited.

3. IMPLEMENTATION AND REVIEW
